Position Summary:
The intern will work to assist on the verification of research and assist in the finalization of the detailed study on National Integrity Systems (NIS) Assessment.

This study is expected to detail the steps necessary to curb corruption in the country, both by government and NGOs (more information on NIS assessments is available at http://www.transparency.org/whatwedo/nis).

The assessment for Maldives is now drafted and requires verification and wide stakeholder discussions prior to being launched by the end of June. The Intern is responsible for organizing stakeholder meetings, verifying the research is updated with necessary comments from stakeholders and also assists in media outreach. The intern will work closely with the Senior Project Coordinator for the project.

Key tasks:

Benefits:
The intern will gain valuable knowledge with regards to the research findings of the assessment, which is a thorough review of a wide rage of institutions in the country. The intern will have opportunities to develop his/her research, administrative and communications skills through work-based learning.

Transparency Maldives does not pay any remuneration to its interns; however, a letter of reference will be provided upon request.
